CHA POLITICAL HISTORY GROUP AWARD FOR THE BEST ARTICLE IN FRENCH (2027)

The Political History Group (GHP) of the Canadian Historical Association is pleased to announce the competition for the award for the best article in Canadian political history (in French). The award will be presented in 2027 to an article in Canadian political history written in French that stands out both for the quality of its writing and for its original, significant, and meritorious contribution to the field. The GHP defines political history as broadly as possible and encourages the study of politics, public policy, governance, the state, political economy, political sociology, civil society, elections, social movements, foreign policy, international relations, legal history, and all other facets of political life through a variety of theoretical and empirical approaches.

Articles published in the field of Canadian political history between December 1, 2024, and November 30, 2026, are eligible. Articles from scholarly journals and chapters from edited volumes are eligible.

The award will not be presented if there are fewer than four nominations. In such a case, the submitted works will automatically be considered for the next competition. The award will be presented at the annual meeting of the Canadian Historical Association.

Authors are invited to submit their articles directly (by email) or to contact their editors and journal editors to ask them to submit the works on their behalf.

The deadline for submitting works is January 15, 2027.

Please submit your articles or requests for additional information by January 15, 2027, to:
